POLICY STATEMENT

Cornell University requires that university records, as defined herein, regardless of format, be disposed of or retained for specific periods of time in accordance with legal or other institutional requirements, or for historical value. The university has designated official repositories to manage the retention and disposal of these records according to procedures outlined in this document.

REASON FOR POLICY

The university is committed to effective record management to meet legal and regulatory standards, preserve its history, optimize the use of space, and minimize the cost of record retention.

ENTITIES AFFECTED BY THIS POLICY

POLICY 4.7

Retention of University Records

DEFINITIONS

These definitions apply to terms as they are used in this policy.

Active Record	See "University Record," below.
Archival Record	See "University Record," below.
Fiscal Year	The university's fiscal year, which is from July 1 through June 30.
Inactive Record	See "University Record," below.
Official Repository	The unit, department, or division designated as having responsibility for retention and timely destruction of particular types of university or Weill Cornell Medical College (WCMC) records. Such responsibility is assigned to the unit's administrator or a designee. Official repositories are identified in Tables 1 and 2 of "Record Retention: Duration and Location" of Procedures.
University Archives	A part of the Division of Rare and Manuscript Collections that promotes knowledge and understanding of the university's origins, aims, programs, and goals; and facilitates effective records management. The Archives collects and preserves records of historical, legal, fiscal, and administrative value. It provides permanent retention of official records of the university, its officers, and component parts; maps and architectural records; audiovisual materials; publications; and artifacts documenting the university's history. See also, "WCMC Archives," below.
University Archivist	The individual responsible for (1) designating which university records have historical value, and (2) effecting the transfer of all archival records from the office in which they originated or were received to the University Archives at such times and in the manner and form prescribed by the Archives. See also, "WCMC Archivist," below.
University Record	Any form of recorded information, regardless of physical characteristics, that is created, received, recorded, or legally filed in the course of university or WCMC business or in the university's or WCMC's legal obligations. University records serve as evidence of the university's organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, transactions, or other activities. ◆Note: An official record can be in hard-copy form (e.g., paper, magnetic tape, film, etc.) or electronic form. An electronic document (e.g., email, cloud-based documents, etc.) is considered a university record and is subject to the same retention period as the hard copy equivalent if the electronic document is created or received in the transaction of business; retained as evidence of official policies/decisions; and/or has historical significance or valuable informational content. Active Record A record with current use for the unit, department, or division that generated it. Records remain active for varying numbers of years, depending on the purpose for which they were created. Archival Record A record that is no longer required by the unit, department, or division in which it originated or was received, and that has permanent legal, institutional, or historical value. Inactive Record A record with no current use for the unit, department, or division that generated it and that has not yet reached the end of its retention period.

Retention of University Records

DEFINITIONS, CONTINUED

WCMC Archives

A part of the combined NewYork-Presbyterian/Weill Cornell Medical Center archive office that promotes knowledge and understanding of the center's origins, aims, programs, and goals; and facilitates effective records management. The Archives collects and preserves records of historical, legal, fiscal, and administrative value. It provides permanent retention of official records of the center, its officers, and component parts; maps and architectural records; audiovisual materials; publications; and artifacts documenting the center's history. See also, "University Archives," above.

WCMC Archivist

The individual responsible for (1) designating which WCMC records have historical value, and (2) effecting the transfer of all archival records from the office in which they originated or were received to the WCMC Archives at such times and in the manner and form prescribed by the Archives, and subject to the appropriate retention and disposition schedules that are outlined in this document. See also, "University Archivist," above.

POLICY 4.7

Retention of University Records

PROCEDURES – ITHACA CAMPUS UNITS

Responsibilities for Managing University Records

Certain departments and units are designated as “official repositories,” as listed in Tables 1 and 2, which follow. Official repositories are responsible for establishing and maintaining appropriate records retention management practices. Departments and units that are not official repositories are expected to retain records only while they remain active records.

Each unit’s administrator or a designee must do the following:

- Implement the unit’s and/or office’s records management practices
- Ensure that these records management practices are consistent with this policy
- Educate staff within the administrative unit in understanding sound records management practices
- Preserve inactive records of legal, fiscal, administrative, or historical value. These records should be transferred to the University Archives
- Ensure that access to confidential files is restricted. Long-term restrictions on access to selected archival records should be negotiated at the time of their transfer to the University Archives
- Destroy inactive records that have no archival value upon expiration of the applicable retention period

Direct questions about these responsibilities to the University Records Manager, who will work closely with units to ensure understanding of this policy and implementation of these responsibilities.

◆Note: An official record can be in the form of original paper, or may be a digital surrogate, at the discretion of the official repository.

Preserving or Disposing of University Records

When the prescribed retention period (see Tables 1 and 2 of “Record Retention: Duration and Location” of Procedures) for university records has passed, a determination of whether to preserve or dispose of the documents must be made. To decide if the record is of historic value to the university, consult the University Archivist, who has the authority to designate which records are archival.

- Option A
Archival Records

Records in Hard Copy (paper, magnetic tape, CD, DVD, film, etc.) If you have determined that the records are archival, they should be transferred to University Archives. Call the University Records Manager to initiate the following:

1. Review records to be sent to University Archives

POLICY 4.7

Retention of University Records

PROCEDURES – ITHACA CAMPUS UNITS, CONTINUED

2. Request archival boxes (one full file drawer = two boxes)
3. Request a transfer form (See Related Resources)
4. Schedule a time for boxes to be picked up

Records in Electronic Form

The official repository for electronic records, in cooperation with the University Archives, has the responsibility to manage those records and retain them appropriately, in accordance with the protection requirements detailed in University Policy 5.10, Information Security.

- Option B

Non-archival Records

Confidential Records: Shred or otherwise render unreadable records with confidential information, including records containing social security numbers, credit card information, drivers' license numbers, patient treatment information, or other information as designated by an information steward.

◆Note: New York State's Disposal of Personal Records Law requires that appropriate measures be taken when disposing of records containing personal identifying information, such as a name, number, personal mark, or other identifier, that can be used to identify a person, when coupled with one or more data elements including social security number, driver's license number, mother's maiden name, financial services or bank account number, by (1) shredding the record, (2) destroying the personal identifying information contained in the record, (3) modifying the record to make the personal identifying information unreadable, or (4) taking reasonable actions consistent with commonly accepted industry practice.

Other Records: Dispose of records that contain public information in an appropriate manner.

◆Note: Periodically, review records generated and maintained in university information systems or equipment to ensure that these requirements are met.

Record Retention: Location and Duration

Tables 1 and 2, which follow, list the official repositories for university records, as well as how long these records must be retained.

◆Note: Where a record falls into more than one category, the longer period governs.

Record retention periods may be increased by government regulation, judicial or administrative consent order, private or governmental contract, pending litigation, or audit requirements. Such modifications supersede the requirements listed in this policy. Suspension of record destruction required for any of these reasons will be accomplished by a notice sent out to affected units by the Office of General Counsel, the University Audit Office, the Division of Financial Affairs, or the Office of Sponsored Programs.

POLICY 4.7

Retention of University Records

◆ Note: No document list can be exhaustive. Questions regarding the retention period for any specific document or class of documents not included in these tables should be addressed to the Office of General Counsel.

◆ Caution: If you have reason to believe that a claim may be asserted for which records scheduled for destruction may be relevant, do not destroy such records until you consult with the Office of General Counsel.

Responsibilities for Managing University Records

Departments and divisions that maintain Weill Cornell Medical College (WCMC) records are responsible to do the following:

- Implement the records management practices identified in this policy
- Ensure that all records management practices are consistent with this policy
- Preserve inactive records of legal, fiscal, administrative, or historical value. These records should be transferred to the WCMC Archives
- Ensure that access to confidential files is restricted. Long-term restrictions on access to selected archival records should be negotiated at the time of their transfer to the WCMC Archives
- Destroy inactive records that have no archival value upon expiration of the applicable retention period

Direct questions about these responsibilities to the WCMC Records Manager.

Preserving or Disposing of WCMC Records

When the prescribed retention period (see Tables 1 and 2 of “Record Retention: Duration and Location” of Procedures) for WCMC records has passed, a determination of whether to preserve or dispose of the documents must be made. To decide if the record is of historic value to WCMC, consult the WCMC Archivist, who has the authority to designate which records are archival.

- Option A

Archival Records

All departments and divisions must send copies of any records (paper-based or electronic) that have enduring value to the WCMC archives. These records include, but are not limited to, the following items: annual reports, biographical information of faculty and staff, any information related to the history of the Medical College and its facilities, announcements, booklets, brochures, bulletins, calendars, catalogs, directories, flyers, guides, handbooks, invitations, journals, magazines, manuals, newsletters, pamphlets, programs and yearbooks.

- Option B

Non-archival Records

Confidential Records: Shred records with confidential information, including records containing social security numbers, credit card information, drivers’ license numbers, patient treatment information, or other information as designated by an information steward. A complete definition of confidential data is available in WCMC Policy 11.3 – Data Classification.

POLICY 4.7

◆Note: New York State’s Disposal of Personal Records Law requires that appropriate measures be taken when disposing of records containing personal identifying information, such as a name, number, personal mark, or other information that can be used to identify a person, when coupled with one or more data elements including social security number, driver’s license number, mother’s maiden name, financial services or bank account number, by (1) shredding the record, (2) destroying the personal identifying information contained in the record, (3) modifying the record to make the personal identifying information unreadable, or (4) taking reasonable actions consistent with commonly accepted industry practice.

Other Records: Dispose of records that contain public information in an appropriate manner.

◆Note: At least every six months, review records generated and maintained in WCMC information systems or equipment to ensure that these requirements are met.

Record Retention: Location and Duration

Record Retention: Location and Duration

Tables 1 and 2, which follow, list the official repositories for WCMC records, as well as how long these records must be retained.

Record retention periods may be increased by government regulation, judicial or administrative consent order, private or governmental contract, pending litigation, or audit requirements. Such modifications supersede the requirements listed in this policy. Suspension of record destruction required for any of these reasons will be accomplished by a notice sent out to affected units by the Office of General Counsel, the University Audit Office, the Division of Financial Affairs, or the Office of Sponsored Programs.

◆Note: No document list can be exhaustive. Questions regarding the retention period for any specific document or class of documents not included in these tables should be addressed to the Office of General Counsel.

◆Caution: Departments and divisions that are not official repositories and that retain duplicate or multiple copies of these WCMC records must comply with this policy.

◆Caution: If you have reason to believe that a legal claim may be asserted for which records scheduled for destruction may be relevant, do not destroy such records until you consult with the Office of General Counsel.

POLICY 4.7

Retention of University Records

◆ Caution: Certain records, for example in clinical practices, have set destruction policies based on when they are electronically scanned. Such specific policies take precedence over this general policy.
